Convey Valuable Insights in China Taxation Guest Lecture

The Department of Accountancy (AC) regularly invites subject matter experts to hold guest lectures for students.

In June, it was our honour to have Mr. Peter Kung, Senior Partner at KPMG, kindly devote his time to hold a guest lecture on China Taxation for AC students.

During the lecture, Mr. Kung shared the latest developments of the accounting industry in Mainland China and gave a detailed explanation on the current tax system in place there. Mr. Kung actively exchanged ideas with students and used interesting real-life cases to illustrate how to design a corporate structure that would be beneficial for tax planning.

‘Sleep well!’

In addition, he also provided valuable career advice for students and shared a few tips for succeeding in both Hong Kong and China job markets. He suggested the students be more forward-looking, maintain a positive attitude towards their professional career, and most importantly, ‘Sleep well!’

PROFILE of Mr. Peter Kung

Senior tax partner at KPMG, with two decades of professional accounting and taxation experience in Southern China.

He also spent ten years working in the UK before relocating to China.

For students who are interested in learning more about China taxation, you may enroll in AC3252 Accounting and Taxation Systems in the Chinese Mainland offered by the Department this coming semester.
