

Fruitful Internships at the Inland Revenue Department

In addition to internship programmes at renowned accounting firms, the Department of Accountancy also nominates students to work at the Inland Revenue Department for three months over summer.

In 2010, eight students, together with around a hundred students from other local and overseas universities, worked at Inland Revenue, handling taxpayers' enquiries and conducting interviews on tax matters.

AC students spent a meaningful summer at the Inland Revenue Department as interns

During their internships, the students learned how to work precisely and accurately, enhanced their understanding of taxation and compliance, handled various cases and improved their time management. Overall, the experience was very fruitful.

Graceful Journey at CityU – 2010 Congregation

Text adopted from the speech delivered by Lu Lining, the AC student representative for 2010 Congregation, on November 11, 2010

Today marked a significant milestone in our lives, the culmination of three years of hard work, learning, growth and shared memories.

Three years ago, when we first set foot in CityU, we were unpolished gems, unsure of our strengths and confused as to which career path to pursue. But we have come a long way. What has transformed us from hesitant freshmen to confident and professional graduates poised to make a mark on the world? I truly believe that it is the overall CityU experience, the countless demanding team projects and presentations for every course, international and local competitions, community service ventures, international exchange opportunities, professional attachments, hall life and much more.

We would like to show our sincere appreciation to the passionate teaching staff for their inspiring guidance and amazing dedication, and more importantly their genuine care and concern for our well-being.

And we cannot leave out our families and loved ones from this significant journey. Throughout our time at CityU, they have supported us quietly as we worked our way through our projects and took off on our exchange programmes. Mums and dads, families and friends, from the bottom of our hearts, thank you for always being there.

Finally, may the experiences from CityU never be forgotten and the friendships formed never weaken. Let us strengthen CityU for the cohorts to come.

Exciting Activities — Learning Outside the Classroom

KOREA Management STUDY Accounting TOUR

Study

Studying at the Seoul National University (SNU) was a wonderful experience. SNU students are generally both hard working and participative.

The cross-cultural experience of completing a project was invaluable. We were all very proactive in exchanging ideas and views, fostering an atmosphere conducive for learning.

Tour

Our Korean peers worked hard and played even harder! They befriended us and treated us with sincerity. Outside the classroom, we visited various local attractions, including Lotte World, Everland, Royal Palace, the Gyeongbokgung Palace, Seoul Tower, Cheonggyecheon, Dongdaemun, Myeong-dong, CoEx and Jamsil.

SNU students also shared with us aspects of their popular culture like fashion and music, and taught us many traditional Korean games, which enhanced our understanding of the country's unique culture.

"Let's grab a beer!
Konbae!!!!"

South Koreans drink a surprising amount of alcohol – as much as 40 litres per person every year!

The hierarchical Confucian culture in the country means that people of lower ranks face great social pressure. They are socialised to obey and always respect their seniors; they also value relationships and harmony. That may be why Koreans drink so much – to relieve the pressure in such a straightened social atmosphere.

Thanks to the courtesy of Dr Jong-Hag Choi from SNU, we had the opportunity to taste the Korean beer drinking culture, and Korean beer of course. We enjoyed clinking each other's glasses and crying 'Konbae!' very much!

KOREA STUDY TOUR

01 A big thanks goes to Mr David Yip of CityU and Dr Jong-Hag Choi of SNU for leading this eye-opening study tour of Seoul.

02 It was a mouth-watering experience for us to try Kimchi, which is inseparable from Korean daily life.

03 We formed teams with Korean students and rafted along the Dongjiang. Surviving the rapids was both challenging and fun!

04 We gained a first-hand glimpse of a traditional Korean wedding! So cool!

A Better Taste of Foreign Culture

Travelling is full of fun, but there are always limitations. Trips are often short and, of course, very expensive. Usually we just spend time as tourists, wandering around, perhaps guided by a Lonely Planet book. Now there is a chance to go on a new type of trip. Every year, the Department sponsors students to join College-based language and cultural immersion schemes. Last year, over 20 students went to New Zealand, the United Kingdom and the United States for the Study and Work Abroad Summer Programme 2010. The six-week programme involved English learning, home stay and voluntary work. The students fully immersed themselves in foreign cultures to gain a better understanding of what is going on in other countries. Here is what the students have to say about their experiences.

NEW ZEALAND

I Got LOST + Big Thanks (Chan Wai Ling, BBAAC)

"New Zealanders are very nice. I got lost on the first day in Auckland and asked local people for directions. A kind lady not only explained how to get where I was going, but also walked me to the right bus."

"People speak quietly, but shout out their thanks."

Fun Learning (Lau Lap Man, BBAAC)

"The English classes here are interactive and involve lots of games. For example, on the day of World Cup final, our teacher took us to a bar next to the school and we watched the action together."

UNITED KINGDOM

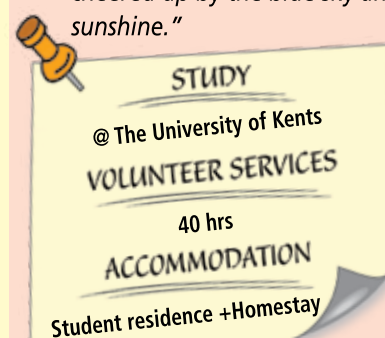

Long Long Day (Wong Chak Man, BBAAMIS)

"The first thing that caught my attention was the long daylight hours. In the UK during summer, the sun rises at about 4 am and only sets after 10 pm. I was very cheered up by the blue sky and sunshine."

Volunteering (Li Na, BBAAC)

"There are many charity shops in Britain. According to a Red Cross charity shop owner, there are around 13 charity shops in Whitstable alone. People in the UK usually donate unwanted things to charity shops instead of disposing of them."

I was a volunteer at Age Concern, a charity that serves the elderly. The older people there were very energetic – the men enjoyed making jokes and the ladies busily polished their fingernails. I was inspired by their positive attitudes towards life and benefited a great deal from their wise advice."

UNITED STATES

Party and Chat Time (Lam Yuk Har, BBAACW)

"I chatted with my host family members for two to three hours every night. We talked on a wide range of topics such as entertainment, sports, traditional customs, economics and social issues."

"Americans, particularly the teenagers, are party animals. They have all kinds of "weird" parties – pyjama parties, pool parties and graduation proms."

Independence Day (Wun Tsz Kiu, BBAACW)

"On July 4, I attended a giant celebration concert near Charles River in Boston. Thousands of people gathered to celebrate Independence Day, and I gained a special appreciation of what the festivities were all about."

Path to the Big Four

For most accounting students, joining a Big Four firm is a stepping-stone to building a successful career in accounting. Deloitte, Ernst & Young, KPMG and PwC are the four largest international accounting and professional service firms, handling the vast majority of audits for publicly traded companies and many private companies.

The Big Four value talent acquisition and have developed an elaborate process to screen prospective employees in their recruitment that includes aptitude and written tests, group discussions and one-to-one interviews with senior managers.

Students looking to work for Big Four firms not only need to have a good understanding of recruitment is conducted, but also need to be thoroughly prepared to stand out in the notoriously difficult recruitment exercise.

Support from the Department

The Department fully supports the career development of its students by equipping them with the knowledge, skills and values needed in preparing for the challenges and opportunities of the highly competitive job market, especially in relation to the Big Four recruitment process.

As the 2010/11 academic year commenced in September, the Department invited a veteran from an international accounting firm to hold a number of workshops that were designed to equip students with valuable career information and interview tips for Big Four recruitment and beyond.

The workshops covered key areas of Big Four application procedures, including an overview of the recruitment process, an introduction to the structure of the one-to-one interviews and the key attributes that CPA firms are expecting from fresh graduates. They also highlighted the techniques and key skills required for group interviews and how students can best present their personal qualities to an interviewer.

The Department subsequently launched a CV consultation service to review students' application materials and advise them on how to polish their applications for the recruitment process. The Career and Internship Office ran a number of aptitude test workshops, providing students with mock examination papers and the necessary numeric and logical skills for getting answers precisely and quickly.

With all of this support from the Department and the University, our students are very well prepared for Big Four recruitment and the other opportunities that await them.

DAC Chairman Elected President of the HKICPA

Mr Philip Tsai, Chairman of the Departmental Advisory Committee (DAC), was elected President of the Hong Kong Institute of Certified Public Accountants (HKICPA) at its 38th annual general meeting in December 2010. The Department would like to express its heartfelt congratulations to Mr Tsai.

Mr Tsai is a partner at Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu, and has been serving on the HKICPA Council for over six years. He has chaired several important sub-committees in the HKICPA and has helped to drive the development of Hong Kong's accounting profession.

As Chairman of Departmental Advisory Committee, which supervises the overall development of the Department's programmes, Mr Tsai has contributed a great deal to the direction of our programme development in recent years.

The HKICPA is the only body authorised by law to register and grant practising certificates to Certified Public Accountants in Hong Kong. It has nearly 31,000 members and 14,000 registered students.

High Achievers Join the ASP Family

The Department is very pleased to welcome the 32 achievers who recently joined the Accounting Scholars Programme (ASP). This programme is tailored for accounting talents who strive for academic excellence and whole-person development.

With guidance from alumni and industry professionals, the 32 students will take part in a two-year programme to develop both personally and professionally, including their business knowledge, necessary skills and maturity. They will also establish strong ties with industry experts, opinion leaders and professionals from various business fields to broaden their horizons and develop as holistic businesspeople. The newcomers had their first gathering with their mentors on December 10, 2010.

We congratulate these achievers and wish them a meaningful journey with ASP.

Expert Outlines Industry Megatrends for AC students

The Department regularly invites key industry leaders to share their insights with our students. It was the Department's honour to have Ms Susanna Chiu, Senior Vice President of Li & Fung (Trading) Ltd, deliver a keynote on "Mega Trends and the Role of Accountants" on November 17, 2010.

Ms Susanna Chiu, Senior Vice President of Li & Fung sharing her experience with our students

Ms Chiu outlined the key megatrends that are driving change in the business environment, how these trends are affecting the role of accountants and how students should better equip themselves to meet these challenges. The keynote was well received by students.

With over 20 years of professional experience, Ms Chiu is a veteran in audit, accounting and business consultation. She has served as Chairman and Deputy Chairman and has taken part in various committees and working groups of the Hong Kong Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

In this issue, two AC contributors share their secrets of success with us. Miss Rachel Yip, an AC alumnus, tells of the sweat, tears and fruitful times at Deloitte, and offers some tips for students who are aiming to join a Big Four firm. Flex Yang, a BBAACW year 3 student, highlights his recent achievement with the Department's great support.

The Second Three Years at Deloitte

Rachel in Muskoka, Canada, October 2010

Three is a very important number to me. I have long thought "you can run away from hell three years later" and "three years will pass fast". So why three? A minimum of three years' practical experience with an authorised employer or supervisor is required to become a Hong Kong CPA.

I have now been with Deloitte for three years. Admittedly, the long hours, hard work and pressure have sometimes led to second thoughts about my priorities in life. However, deep inside I fully understand that it takes a lot of hard work before the perks of the accounting profession can be enjoyed. I am looking forward to the second three years!

Interview with Miss Rachel Yip

R = Miss Yip

Q1. What are the major challenges of working at a multinational accounting firm?

R: I think time management and dealing with clients are the most challenging.

Q2. Do you have any tips for students who would like to apply for a Big Four position?

R: Strong technical skills are definitely an advantage in handling daily work. At the same time, analytical, interpersonal and generic skills are important, especially when one moves up the ladder. Enrich your knowledge base and broaden your horizons in different directions, such as through travelling or wine, tea or coffee tasting; just whatever you're interested in. Finally, be well prepared for the long working hours and working in mainland China.

Q3. How do you strike a balance between work, life and study?

R: I think a balance between work and life is a lifelong task. Admittedly I am rather committed at work, and will be until retirement. Yet, I still manage to travel and spend quality time with my family and friends. In the slack season, I also take short courses, such as drawing.

I think making a study plan and strictly following it would be very helpful for managing the CPA exam. Deloitte provides great assistance, including tutorials and mock exam papers, to its staff in obtaining the preferred professional designation.

Glowing Entrepreneurs

My tasks – financial budgeting and information analysis – could not have been well accomplished in the winning team at the HSBC Young Entrepreneur Awards 2009-10 without the professional training I received from the Department of Accountancy at CityU. The challenges we faced could only be tackled with good accounting skills and unyielding attitudes towards the problems. I believe that the accounting training and life education we have received from the Department will help us not only to embark on careers professionally and smoothly but will also establish in us positive attitudes towards life.

The Department also values the experience of overseas exchange. With the opportunity provided by the University and our Department, I enjoyed an amazing summer term at Cambridge University. I met top students from leading universities in the US like Harvard, Yale and the UC system, and gained different perspectives of Western society. As a Chinese student, I enabled foreign students to understand Chinese culture better by providing them with Chinese 'insights'. I also learned from them how great the top students from leading Western universities could be. I am more mature and independent after returning to Hong Kong.
