

Taught Postgraduate Career Training Workshop

The Department of Accountancy organized a Career Training Workshop on 29 September 2023 for students of the Master of Science in Professional Accounting and Corporate Governance (MScPACG) Professional Accounting (PA) Stream and the Master of Arts in International Accounting.

Mr. Mackie Mak, a Senior Manager from PwC, was invited to hold a training session on group interviews in the graduate recruitment process. The workshop aimed to equip students with the skills needed to impress the Big-4 and other CPA firms as interviewees, and to help them meet commercial firms' graduate recruitment challenges in the coming September or October.

Accordingly, the workshop provided an introduction to the recruitment process. A mock group interview was also organized, with the students taking the role of participants or observers. Throughout the workshop, the students were provided with individual feedback to highlight their strengths and areas requiring improvement.

Prof. Zheng Liu, MScPACG programme leader, presented a token of appreciation to Mr. Mackie Mak on behalf of the Department, to thank him for his time and effort. The Department hopes that through this workshop, the participating students were able to acquire skills that will give them an advantage in the recruitment process.
