

Professor Kim Jeong Bon Listed in Stanford's Top 2% Most Highly Cited Scientists of 2022

Prof. Kim Jeong Bon, Acting Dean (College of Business) and Chair Professor of the Department of Accountancy, has been listed in Stanford's top 2% most highly cited scientists of 2022.

Prof. Kim is listed in the 5th edition of Stanford's list of the top 2% most highly cited scientists in the world, which was released on November 3, 2022.

Stanford's list of the world's top 2% most highly cited scientists identifies the career impact and impact over the past year of scholars from multiple scientific fields and subfields who have published multiple highly cited papers, with impact ranked according to various citation metrics based on Scopus data. The selection is based on the top 100,000 scientists by c-score (with and without self-citations) or a percentile rank of 2% or above in a subfield.

The Department of Accountancy would like to congratulate Prof. Kim for his outstanding achievement and recognize his tireless pursuit of research excellence and his prolific output. We wish him continued success in the future.