Beijing Economic-Technological Development Area (also known as Beijing E-Town)

Beijing E-Town is the only national-level economic-technological development area in Beijing, and it serves as a crucial gateway for the capital city's reform. Beijing E-Town has cultivated four key industries leading the way in innovation: next-generation IT, high-end automobiles and new-energy vehicles, biotech, health and wellness, as well as robotics and smart manufacturing with a scale of four hundred billion. In 2023, Beijing E-Town achieved a regional GDP of over 280 billion and an industrial output value exceeding 520 billion, contributing nearly 30% of the city's industrial-added value while occupying just 0.35% of Beijing's land. The area also surpassed 100 billion in fixed asset investment, with industrial investment exceeding 60 billion, ranking among the top three in the city. Currently, Beijing E-Town is home to more than 90,000 market corporations, including over 100 of the world's top 500 enterprises and more than 2,100 national high-tech enterprises, which is 1.6 times the number of national high-tech enterprises in other areas.

Beijing E-Town welcomes CityUHK undergraduates who are interested in innovation and entrepreneurship to intern with science and technology enterprises in the area. This opportunity will help broaden their global vision and provide practical understanding of innovation and entrepreneurship ecosystems. For more details, please visit company website.
